Harbour from the Station. The River Esk divides the town of Whitby into two parts; the larger division being on the west bank of the river but the more ancient part on the east. The river is spanned by a bridge of stone and iron, erected in 1909 at a cost of over £13,000. It is worked by electric power, enabling it to be swung open in a few seconds. At the end of the West Pier is a lighthouse, erected in 1331; a second lighthouse on the East Pier was erected in 1855.

Printed in England.
